NO DALLYING WITH TORIES. THE HOME RULE BILL MUST BE RE-PORTED BY JULY 31.

Giadetone Decides to Closure the Bill ta Daly Following the Tory Example of 1887 - The Irish Members Delighted, LONDON, June 28. - The galleries of the House of Commons were packed with people to-day, their presence being due to the expectation that Mr. Gladstone would make a statement in regard to the course the Government had decided to follow with reference to the Hame Bule bill. When the Prime Minister entered the House nimost; perfect silence pre-valled, but before he had reached his seat a storm of cheers, repeated again and again. greeted him. Shortly after Mr. Gladstone had taken his ant Mr. John W. Benn (Liberal), member for the Wapping Division of Tower Hamlets, and Mr. Samuel Woods (Labor), member for South-east Lancashire, asked the questions, prior notice of which had been given to the House, in relation to the closing of the discussion of the Home Rule bill.

Mr. Gladstone, in reply, briefly announced that to-morrow he would move the adoption of a resolution calling upon the House to expedite the passage of the bill.

This announcement was greeted with cheers by the supporters of the Government. Mr. Gladstone added that the terms of the resolution were nearly prepared, and he hoped to communicate it to the House during the day. The Right Hon. A. J. Palfour, leader of the Opposition in the House, asked that the terms of the resolution be communicated to the Opposition leaders before they were publicly announced in the House.

With subtle irony Mr. Gladstone informed Mr. Ballour that the resolution was based on the proposal made by the Conservatives by which the Crimes act was rushed through Par-liament in 1887. This reply produced hearty laughter and a hurricane of cheers from the Tish benches. Mr. Ballour was not at all put out by the answer be had received, or, if he was, he did not show it, and as Mr. Gladstone resumed his seat Mr. Ballour smilingly bowed to him.

out by the answer he had received of the was he did not show it, and as Mr. Gladstone resumed his seat Mr. Bailour smilingly bowed to him.

When the Prime Minister was reseated his clated supporters rushed into the lobbies, where they discussed the Government's plan. The Irish men,bers are jubilant. The concensus of opinion is that some such action could not with safety be longer delayed. It this action had not been taken, it would not have been long before there would have been open revolt, instead of mutterings, in the Irish ranks, against the Government.

Mr. John Morley, Chief Secretary for Ireland, subsequently read the terms of the resolution. These provide that the bil shall be reported by July 31, and shall be closured in four sections. Clauses five to eight shall be discussed next week; clauses nine to twenty-six the following week, and clauses twenty-seven to forty the third week. Thereafter the financial clauses and any new clauses shall be discussed. Mr. Morley added that the Government would not receive any dilatory motion nor any motion to postpone a clause, unless the motion was made by the Minister in charge of the bill.

The rule of the House ending the daily session at midnight would be suspended to-morrow. If progress should be reported the Chairman of the Committee, the proceedings thereunder should not be interrupted by any standing order rolating to the sittings of the House.

This statement was received with cheers.

Mr. Thomas Wallace Russell (Liberal-Unionist member for the Southern division of Tyrone, gave notice that he would submit an amendment to the strongs of the dovernment proposed to consider the motion for the adoption of the resolution of the resolution of the resolution of the protested against the brief time allowed them to consider the recolution, although that proposal was vastly less complicated than the present one.

When Mr. Gladstone rose to reply to Mr. Balfour he was enthusiastically cheered. He posal was vastly less complicated than the present one.

When Mr. Gladstone rose to reply to Mr. Balfour he was enthusiastically cheered. He readily admitted his action in 1887, but said that the opinion of the House then was that a resolution like the one referred to ought not to be kept pending. Moreover, the House had already gone through an immense mass of work and a still greater amount was awaiting its attention. Indeed, it had become a question was to whether the House was or was not able to discharge the duties with which it had been intrusted.

This statement elicited further cheering able to discharge the duties with which it had been intrusted.

This statement elicited further cheering from the Government supporters.

Mr. Gladstone further said that there was no such question in 1887 as existed now. On the grounds of public duty he must decline to accede to the wish of Mr. Balfour that further time be given the Opposition to consider the terms of the resolution.

The sitting closed amid unbounded enthusism on the part of the Irish, Radical, and Liberal members.

THE BEHRING SEA .CASE. Mr. Phelps Argues that We Have Property Rights in the Scals.

Paris, June 28.-The Hon. E. J. Phelps. of closing address before the Behring Sea Tribunal of Arbitration to-day. He reanalyzed the international law bearing upon the case before the tribunal, showing that all marine animals in which there was a property interest were treated as property by the nations best entitled to protect them. In support of his contention on this point Mr. Phelps in-stanced the British coral and pearl oyster fisheries, which, though they were outside of territorial waters, it was at solutely necessary to protect in order to prevent them from being exterminated.

In reply to a question asked by Baron de Courcel, President of the Triounal, Mr. Phelps said that the United States had a right to procet, even by force, their property interest in the seals and the industry dependent upon those animals. What the Americans would, in the judgment of the civilized nations, have the right to, was the just measure of award claimed from the tribunal, which was a substitute for the national right of self-defence.

DUBLIS, June 28.—The contest for the seat in the House of Commons for the Southeast Division of Cork county, rendered vacant by the retirement from Parliament of Mr. John Morrogh, Anti-Paraellite, who withdrew from political life because of the recent dissension over the Freeman's Journal, promised to be interesting. There had been a split among the Anti-Parnellites in the district and two candidates of the same party affiliations wer nominated. One of these was Dr. Andrew Commins, who unsuccessfully contested the South Division of Rescommon county at the general election last July, while the other was Dr. Magner, who is comparatively unknown in trab coultry, July

Dr. Magner, who is comparatively unknown in Irish political direles.

The election in the district took place today, but a measurement of the strength of the two factions of the Anti-Parnellites was avoided by the withdrawal of Dr. Magner from the contest. This rendered balloting unnecessary, as Dr. Commins was left the only candidate in the field, and the Sherilf, after the customary formalities, declared him elected. His Parnellite opponent received only 15/2 votes.

The election in the Parliamentary division of Northeast Cork to fill the vacancy in the House of Commons caused by the withdrawal from the House of Mr. Michael Davitt, Anti-Parnellite, was held to-day. The Anti-Parnellites nominated Mr. William Abraham, and he was elected without opposition.

Joannes Caspary's friends want to know what has become of him and about $4,000 which they have lent him. Two years ago he got a place at $5 a week in Charles Mayer's drug store at 515 Ninth avenue. Last summer he got a legacy from Germany. He quit work, and all summer entertained his friends spending $1,500 which he had received on account of the legacy. In the fall he reversed the lever and began to borrow from Mr. Spenard M. Mayer, who lent him $15 to $50 at a time. He borrowed frequently, and assured his friends that there was much more money coming to him.

After a time he got behind in his accounts with Mrs. McCuskey, and three weeks ago he disappeared. Mrs. McCuskey then went to see Mr. Mayer. Mr. Mayer said he had lent Caspary about $400. Then Mr. Mayer went to see Mr. Speer. Mr. Speer had lent Caspary about $3,500. Then cablegrams were sent to Caspary's lawyers in Germany to see when the rest of the legacy would be available. The lawyers replied that Caspary had received all that was due him. And now Mr. Casparay's friends are of the opinion expressed by one of them last night: "We think Mr. Casparay's a dead loss. He was very much of a gentleman, but he is a loss—a dead loss."

THE ELECTIONS IN GERMANY.

COMPLETE RETURNS RECEIVED FROM ALL THE CONSTITUENCIES.

The Exact Vote on the Army Bill, However is Still Somewhat in Doubt, as Some of the New Members Have Reserved Their Decision-How the Parties Will Stand,

BERLIN, June 28.-Reports received to-day from Kitzingen, Schweinfurt, and Lohr com-plete the returns from all the 307 electoral constituencies in the empire. The exact numerical relations of the parties in case of a rote on the Army bill are, nevertheless, still somewhat in doubt, as several candidates who acknowledge allegiance to the larger parties or groups in other matters, have reserved decision concerning the military demands of the Government. The attitude of the Guelphs and Independent Clericals toward the Clerical party, of the Anti-Semite and some Agrarians toward the Conservative party, and of the Radical Unionists toward the Richterist and Na-tional Liberal parties, must remain more or less in doubt for several days.

The editor of the Reschwanzeiger and officials at the Chancellerie gave the assurance this afternoon that until after the correction of the returns and the opening of the Reichstag the relative strength of the parties could not be exactly determined. The situation has been complicated by the rejection of the returns in five constituencies where irregularities vitiated the elections. One of these constituencies is Jerichow, in which Count Herbert Bismarck was supposed to have been elected. If these constituencies be allowed to the parties entitled to them on the face of the returns, the list of 397 deputies is divided generally thus among the parties:

Clericals.
Social Democrats.
Conservatives
Free Choservatives.
National Liberals.
Guelphs.
Alsatians
Anti-Semiles.
Rether Resides.

Of these 307 Deputies, 199 are counted for the Army bill and 185 against it. Thirteen are classed as doubtful. The three constituencies from which the returns were received to-day are:

Kitzingen—Mayor Eck, Clerical, elected over Herr Reeder, Aerarian, to succeed a Clerical, elected over Wilhelm dieorg, National Liberal, to succeed a Clerical, elected over Wilhelm dieorg, National Liberal, to succeed a Clerical, Lobr—Herr Kessler, Ulerical, elected over Johann Weissenberger, Democrat, to succeed a Clerical.

In the following districts the elections have been annualled on account of irregularities: Buchum, where Eduard Puchs, Clerical, weareported as elected over Dr. Haarman, National Liberal, Elberfeld, where Friederich Harm, Social Democrat, was reported as elected over Ernat Darm, Government cariel.

Jerichow, where Count Herbert Bismarck, Agrarian, was reported as elected over City Councillor Woellmer, Richterist.

Richterist.
Cologue city, where Herr Greiz, Clerical, was reported as elected over Herr Lucke, Social Bemocrat.
Lennen, where Karl Meist, Social Bemocrat was reported as elected over Reinhardt Schmidt, Richterist.
The Norddeutsche Allgemeine Zeitung calculates that at the opening of the Reichstag 205
Lenuties will favor the Army bill, and 101 will be opposed to it.

PHILADELPHIA AND READING.

Conclusion of the Henring on the Question of Receivers' Cortificates.

PHILADELPHIA, June 28.—The hearing before Master George L. Crawford to-day on the application of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad receivers for permission to issue receivers' certificates to the amended extent of $3.742.968, was largely consumed in arguments. The production of the Lehigh Valley lease was demanded in order to consider an item of $85,000 for rental due July 1, but the item was withdrawn from the application. In answer to questions as to payments to the Lehigh Valley previous to Feb. 20, when the receivership was created, Lawyer Dickson, for the receivers, said that the latter had nothing to do with the operation of the road prior to their appointment. Mr. Dickson gave the fol-lowing statement of the Lehigh Valley's business since the Reading receivership: February net earnings, $302.000; charges.

February not carnings, $302,000; charges, $565,000; loss, $203,000. March not earnings, $505,000; charges, $565,000. March not earnings, $505,000; gain, $22,000. April not earnings, $447,000; charges, $505,000. Mar was about even, and June will show a profit. This shows an apparent loss of $146,000, Mr. Dickson said in a business of $146,000, Mr. Dickson said in a business of $146,000, Mr. Dickson said in a business of $1000,000, and the receivers are confident that this will be more than made up by the value of the connections.

Regarding figures given at the last hearing by President Harris, Mr. Dickson said that they were the results of six months since Dec. I when the business of the Lehigh Valley was disturbed and expenses increased by reason of work in completing a new line from Waverly to Buffalo. Increased profits through the Lehigh Valley, he continued are probable, and the laying off of the construction force has added to the income.

The hearing was concluded with arguments by counsel representing the different classes of bondholders. The Master will make his report to the United States Circuit Court next week.

AGAINST EXCURSION RATES.

The Grand Trunk Doesn't Want to Run Cheap Trains to the World's Fair. CHICAGO, June 28.-The Grand Trunk Railroad is not going to run excursion trains to the World's Fair, at least not enough to amount to anything, and it is now trying to prevent the other roads from running such trains. It sent out a letter to-day protesting strongly against the extension of time recently granted excursion tickets by the roads of the Central Traffic Association. The time originally set was four days, including the day on which the ticket was purchased. This was subsequently extended to seven and ten days, according to the distance to be covered. The subsequently extended to seven and ten days, according to the distance to be covered. The Grand Trunk new says that this latter arrangement must not be carried into effect, and that if it is the Grand Trunk will proceed to demoralize business by cutting rates.

The extension of time was granted by the general passenger agents, and the Grand Trunk insists that it should have been ratified by the general managers. The only reason given by the Grand Trunk is that the tenday limit will ruin the railroad. The other roads say that they will pay no attention to the Grand Trunk, and will keep right on selling ten-day tickets.

GEORGIA CENTRAL TO BE SOLD.

Justice Jackson Clears Up the Litigation in SAVANNAH, June 28 .- In the United States Court to-day Justice Jackson decided that the tripartite bond mortgage held by the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company of New York covers the Central's leasehold interest in the Southwestern Railway. The Court directs the sale of the Central, including its leaseholds, to pay this tripartite mortgage. The Southwestern Railway has permission to pay one-third of this debt, or it must be sold to pay the one-third principal and interest. The Central, from Savannah to Atlanta, is to be sold to pay the other two-thirds. If it falls, the Southwestern Hailway is responsible for the whole debt. The tripartite has a primary lien on the Central. Other bonds have a second ien. Justice Jackson announced that the Central road would be advertised for sixty days in Savannah, Atlanta, New York, and other cities, beginning Dec. 1. He hoped that those principally interested would by that time agree on a reorganization plan to prevent the sale. The sale of the roads will be on Jan. 31 next. Railway has permission to pay one-third of

The Southwestern First Liable.

SAVANNAIL Ga., June 28 - Argument on the liability of the Southwestern Railroad on the tripartite mortgage continued this morning, and at its conclusion Justice Jackson announced that he would grant a decree for the sale of the property. The three companies, he held, were jointly liable on the tripartite mortgage, which was a most peculiar and welldrawn instrument. The Court decided that per cent. should be paid on the tripartite bonds before and after maturity; that the bonds before and after maturity; that the Southwestern was liable for one-third of this mortgage and interest, and that if that was not paid it should be sold first and that one-third realized; that the Central, from Macon to Atlanta, was liable for two-thirds of the tripartite mortgage and interest.

The Court ranked the tripartite mortgage as a first lien and $8,000,000 outstanding bonds of the $13,000,000 five per cent mortgage as a second lien only on the assets of the Central. Taxes due cities and counties will rank as first mortgage. The receiver was ordered to give up all leased lines not earning more than operating expenses.

NEWS OF THE NAVY. New Commandants for the Boston, Nor

has ordered that another examination be held for the place of Master Shipwright in the New York Navy Yard, which has remained vacant for two years by reason of the failure of applicants who have been examined to secure a high enough percentage to satisfy the officials of their fitness for appointment. The Board of Examiners will convene at the Navy Yard on July 6.

Secretary Herbert has decided upon the new commandants of the Boston, Norfolk, and Mare Island Navy Yards, and will assign officers to these places this week. Capt. Bolfrago. now at Boston, is to be relieved by Commodore Fyffe, in charge of the New London station, and then placed on waiting orders and later probably assigned to the Newport training station. Commodore Fyffe will be succeeded by Commodore Fyffe will be succeeded by Commander Beiden. Commodore George Brown, who was on duty here during the Hawaiian debate in the Senate, to give information about that country, will be sent to his old duty at Norfolk, relieving Capt. Kirkiand, now at League Island, will go to Mare Island as commandant, in place of Admiral Irwin, who has recently relieved Admiral Harmony on the Aslatic station, Commodore Stanton, who will sail in the Newark for the South Atlantic station as soon as his ship is repaired, will remain in charge of the naval home near Philadelphia until then.

Paymaster John Clyde sullivan of the navy, who is under arrest at San Francisco for embezzling $12,000 of the Government funds, will be tried by court martial next week. The department has received information from the Mare Island yard regarding this officer's conduct which necessitates the court martial, which will convene Monday next. This is the second time he has been in trouble in six months, he having narrowly escaned a court martial last winter for expressing his opinion on our rights in Behring Sea.

The new gunboat, the Machias, built by the Bath Iron Works, has started for the Portsmouth Navy Yard, where she will be put into commission next week. As soon as she is commissioned she will be fitted out and sent to the Asiatic station for duty. Capt. C. J. Train will command her.

The Blues Passed Columbia After the Start and Then Won as They Pleased-Harvard on Easy Second-Yale's Time Much Slower Than Cornell's Over the Same Course New London, June 28.—Blue first, crimson second, and blue and white third. So ended the triangular two-mile freshmen contest on the lower half of the Thames college course this afternoon. Yale's time was 10 minutes 23 seconds: Harvard's, 10 minutes 47 seconds, and the slow but gritty Columbia's, 11 minutes 2 seconds. Yale's time, although made under very favorable conditions, is 15 seconds slower than Cornell's in the race with Colum-

Yale won the toss for position and took the centre lane; Columbia won the second choice and selected the eastern course, while Harvard rowed on the west. In the last half mile Columbia went to pieces. From this point the race was simply a procession, and as the whistle of the steam yacht. Cora split the still air with the salute of victory Yale shot across the finish line in 10 minutes 23 seconds, four and a half lengths ahead of the Harvard crew, who were at least three lengths ahead of Columbia. Yale's launch shot up alongside of the winning crew and received them with yells of delight. The crew finished in good shape.

The officials of the race, aside from the referce, were: Starr Tainter and Davis Bandler timekeeper and judge for Columbia; George A. Adee and Albert W. Cowless for Yale's trunched the examinations were brought to a close a colored child stood at the head of overy one of the classes, although there were fewer colored pupils than white.

The streets of New London are ringing tonight with Yale cries, and are filled with enthewknots of blue ribbons, and college lass with blue bandannas lashed to their walking sticks were everywhere. All eyes are now turned on the rival 'varsity eights. All indications point to fast time and a close and exciting race on Friday. Cook had his crew out late to-night, and they showed up in fine form. The Harvard eight were tutored in starts and spurts under Nelson Perkins's critical eye. Perkins, by the way, qualified as captain of the Harvard steam launch, John Harvard, and is now legally able to command a ten-ton steamboat on the North Atlantic seaboard.

Hegarding the prospects of the two crews, Yale's chances are slightly better than Harvard's capt. Cook is sure that the Harvard erew are faster and lietter than Yale while Perkins is equally certain that the Yale men can whip his eight. Harvard now admits to having made her best row over the four-mile course in 21 minutes 30 seconds, and says Yale has made the same distance in 20 minutes 40 seconds. Cook says his men lack strength, while Perkins devoutly wishes for speed in his crew.

A delegation of Columbia College men came down from Gales's Ferry late this evening and gave the following reasons for their defeat: In the first place, they say, their coxwain was to have olied the bottom of the shell just before the race. Through ignorance he used varnish instead of oil. When the crew discovered the mistake they at once turned to to undo the miscalief. The shell was rubbed over with alcohol. This was the cause of the delay at the start.

When they finally put the shell into the water, they say there were great, rough patches of the varnish still left to retard the boat's speed. To add to their trouble, Fearing, in the first half mile, suffered from severing, in the first half mile, suffered from severe cramps, and Sturgis, in the last half, caught a crab. The men also declars that the referee's boat was run so close to them that the suction delayed the shell's speed.

The freshmen races on the Thames date back to 1880. Before that a number of races were rowed by freshmen six-oared crews of the several universities and colleges. In 1880 an agreement was entered into by Harvard and Columbia to row an eight-oared race annually over a two-mile straightaway course, in 1885 Yale joined in the arrangement, bringing about the so-called triangle contests. COLORED PUPILS BISIDE WHITE.

Chairman Sammis Thinks Brooklyn's Schor Experiment a Complete Success.

The closing exercises of Public School No. 83 of Brooklyn, at Schenectacy avenue and Bergen street, this morning, will be of especial interest. It was in this school that the first experiment was made of bringing white and colored teachers and children together in absolute equality.

Six years ago old school No. 83, which was exclusively a white school, and School No. 48, which was for colored children only, were in the same neighborhood. Mr. C. Sammis, Chairman of the School Committee of No. 83, found that the condition of the colored school was deplorable in the extreme, and that the children were neglected, there being four grades to each class instead of one grade, as in the white schools. About this time it was grades to each class instead of one grade, as in the white schools. About this time it was proposed to erect a new school house for No. 83. As soon as the project got under way delegations of white and colored people began to wait upon the Board of Education and discuss propositions to use the new building for both white and colored children.

Mr. Sammis was from the very first a champion of the cause of the colored children, and he finally advocated in the Board the total sholition of the colored school and its absorption by No. 83. This was accomplished mainly through the efforts of Mr. Sammis and his associate in the Board. T. McCants Stewart, the colored lawyer, and for the past six months the mixed school has been conducted in a highly satisfactory manner.

"It required two years." Mr. Sammis said last night," to overcome the prejudices against bringing the children together, but the result has more than justified the expectations of those who were in favor of doing so. None of the disasters which were predicted has cocurred. Before the new school was completed, there were only 320 white pupils in No. 83. When the new school was occupied 200 colored children were added. In the past six months the school has had a remarkable growth, and now numbers in the neighborhood of 1,200 pupils.

This shows clearly that all the agitation, not been linally settled yet. Miss Putnam is a colored teacher, has been connected with Brooklyn schools since 1858, and was long the head of school No. 68. When the two schools were combined both Mr. Sammis and Mr. Stewart agreed that Miss Putnam was hot a competent person to be put at the head of department in No. 83. They considered her too old, and not up to the standard required for the place at the present day. The majority of the School Committee agreed with Mr. Sammis and Mr. Stewart, and recommended that Miss Putnam should be made a class teacher. Miss Augusta Beck was thereupon appointed temporary head of department. At the last meeting of the Board of Education, when the question came up for decision, 15 votes were east in fayor of approving the report of the School Committee and 15 against. One of the members who voted for the report changed his vote, and Miss Putnam was appointed head of department by a vote of 18 to 15.

to 15). An effort will be made, probably at the next meeting of the Board of Education on July 11, to reconsider the resolution appointing Miss Putnam.
